Message from the CEO... William G. Harris

Dear Colleagues,

I am pleased to report that ATP currently boasts the highest level of membership ever; our workshops and conferences continue to surpass sponsorship goals and attendance records; and our networking capability has stretched to include regional divisions in Asia and Europe.

For two decades ATP has used the power of its collective members to tackle challenges, confront obstacles and push open frontiers for a now global testing and assessment industry.

ATP is committed to Education. In the second half of 2012 and into 2013, through the support of members and sponsors, ATP hosted workshops and conferences in Beijing, Berlin, and Ft. Lauderdale.

ATP is committed to Advocacy. Whether it is monitoring legislative initiatives that impact the testing industry in North America; or playing a leading role in the development of International Standards such as ISO 10667; or developing best practices such as the Model Guidelines for Pre-employment Integrity Testing, 3rd Edition and the Operational Best Practices, versions 1 and 2, ATP members have helped foster vital activities that protect and advance the assessment industry.

ATP is committed to Security. Under the leadership of Security Committee Chair, Nikki Eatchel of Questar, work continues to be done by the ATP Security Committee from coordinated DMCA take-down initiatives to the publication this year of Assessment Security Options: Considerations by Delivery Channel and Assessment Model.

ATP is committed to Research. Under the leadership of Editor Chad Buckendahl, Ph.D., of Alpine Testing Solutions, new articles and special editions are being published every year in the Journal of Applied Testing Technology.

ATP is committed to Networking and Promotion.

The ATP website links potential clients directly to ATP members and links ATP members to their colleagues around the globe. In 2013 we welcomed new Board Member Walter Wang, representing the Asia Regional Division, and established an active Founders Committee in India.

As we move into 2013, we will be reporting on structural changes within ATP that will better align us for the future as a global organization. The support of members is more important than ever as our industry faces the challenges of globalization and shifting markets. We are your Association and your support is as vital now as it was two decades ago.

Sincerely,
William G. Harris
