

Celebrating 30 Years of Milestones

1992-2022

Milestone 1992 – The former Association of Personnel Test Publishers (APTP) is dissolved and the Association of Test Publishers (ATP) is incorporated. A new tagline is adopted: The intelligent voice for testing.

Milestone 1997 - ATP welcomes the Certification Division to join its founding Divisions: Education, Clinical, and Industrial/Organizational.

Milestone 2000 - ATP launches its first conference: Computer-Based Testing: Applications for the New Millennium. Later, it would change its name to: Innovations in Testing.

Milestone 2006 - ATP welcomes its first Regional Division: Europe-ATP (E-ATP).

Milestone 2009 - Europe-ATP launches its first Conference in Brussels.

Milestone 2011 - ATP welcomes its second Regional Division: Asia - ATP (A-ATP).

Milestone 2012 - ATP welcomes its third Regional Division: India-ATP (I-ATP), and ATP launches its first Public Sector Conference in Madrid, Spain.

Milestone 2014 - ATP Members vote to amend the by-Laws making ATP an International organization, thereby creating a Global intelligent voice for testing.

Milestone 2015 - ATP welcomes its fifth Practice-area Division: Workforce Skills Credentialing.

Milestone 2018 – Following its fourth annual Public Sector SIG meeting hosted by the UNDP in Copenhagen, the ATP Public Sector SIG is invited to hold its fifth annual meeting at NATO headquarters in Brussels.

Milestone 2019 - ATP launches its first Middle Eastern Conference in Abu Dhabi and launches its Privacy in Practice Bulletin Series.

Milestone 2020 – In response to the global pandemic, ATP launches its first Virtual Global Conference and Security Summit, releases Privacy Guidance When Using Video In The Testing Industry, launches its New World of Testing Digital Webinar Series (NWT), and launches the first EdTech and Computational Psychometrics Summit (ECPS).

Milestone 2021 – ATP Releases a fourth update of the Model Guidelines for Preemployment Integrity Testing, Privacy Edition and a white paper on Artificial Intelligence and The Testing Industry: A Primer.

Letter from the CEO

Left: ATP CEO William G. Harris addresses Members of the Jordan Ministry of Education in Amman, Jordan Above: ATP celebrates 30 years of incorporation at Innovations in Testing 2022 in Orlando, Florida

In 2021 and the first half of 2022, ATP has continued to reflect both growth and transformation, as exponential changes continue to impact our industry. Through the continued support of members and sponsors, including a generous anonymous donation, and the continuation of successful virtual programming, combined with fiscal responsibility, ATP entered 2022 in a solid financial position.

In 2021, at the direction of our members, ATP re-branded to be more inclusive and more forward-thinking. If you have not yet viewed our new logo and its story, I urge you to visit the new ATP website at www.testpublishers.org and view the short video explaining ATP's rebranding journey.

Also in 2021, ATP added two new Standing Committees, the ATP Diversity, Equity and Inclusion in Testing Committee (DEI) and the ATP Technology-Based Assessment Committee (TBA); a new Special Interest Group, the ATP EdTech and Accessibility SIG, and a new initiative focused on Test Fraud/Copyright Infringement.

In 2022, ATP members and stakeholders were finally able to gather at the in-person Innovations In Testing Conference held in Orlando, Florida and an in-person Middle East-ATP conference in Amman, Jordan where we were able to renew our bonds as global colleagues and industry leaders, and benefit from high-caliber educational programming.

Additionally, through your support, ATP continues the work of monitoring evolving data privacy and related laws that impact our industry, showcasing innovation, and providing guidelines and publications that shape our industry. Through the support of sponsors, ATP was able to continue its New World of Testing Digital Webinar series and host its third EdTech & Computational Psychometrics Summit (ECPS). This fall we look forward to meeting in London for Europe-ATP's 2022 conference: E-ATP: The European Home for Assessment and ATP's first, in-person International Security Summit.

This year, ATP celebrated 30 years of incorporation as the only nonprofit Trade Association dedicated to promoting and preserving the value of testing and assessment in all its forms and uses. And just as it was stated in ATP's very first letter to members in 1992, ATP is only as strong as the support of its members. Let's work together towards another successful 30 years.

William G. Harris
